Come to the High School Friday night
at 8 o'clock, and see the pastoral operaetta "Sylvia," an interesting narrative told in song and story, beautiful costuming effects, interspersed with solos, quartets and large choruses, rendered by a troupe of sixty High School students. Everyone else coming—why not you?

LET UNCLE SAM GIVE YOU THE FACTS

Government reports show the steady output of coal during the last few years has made the dealers push for wider markets. We are going to get more trade—your trade—by giving you a greater value for your money.
You will never get out of debt unless you buy wisely.

GOING TO BUY A SILO This Year?

If So, We Have Some Interesting
Silo Dope For You

It is not necessary to tell you the value of silage feeding, as all questions on this point have been settled for some time, and the silo has come to stay. The question is, what is the best silo for me to buy? We think we have it for you, the Kalanazoo Tile silo, and if you are interested,
want you to come in and let us
tell you about it and show you samples and testimonials. Those who have tile silos say they are the best silo to put up, being rain-proof, storm-proof, free from sweating, no hoops to be tightened, no painting to be done, and with such a little difference in the cost to be startling. If any firm knows silos, it is the Kala-nazoo Tank and Silo Company,
as they have practically grown old in the silo business. Come in, and let's talk silos.

The New Edison Diamond Point Disc Phonograph

Shown at J. T. Kackley & Co.'s

ITS FEATURES—No needles to change. Perfect tone. Automatic stop. A new tone-modifier, adjusted by a simple touch, gives any degree of softness or loudness of tone. All other records can be used.
Every sound, syllable and word is perfectly distinct. In singing, the human voice is reproduced without any squeaky mechanical defects.
It seems the singer is before you. In instrumental music, every instrument, in solo or combination, is absolutely reproduced. Keep your old records, they will sound better on the new Edison, better than they ever sounded to you before on any other instrument. Come in and hear them.

"BARREL BANQUET"

At the First Presbyterian Church Last Night—Eloquent Toasts and Good Cheer.

The Barrel Circle of the Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian Church gave a banquet to the congregation of their church last night. Covers were laid for sixty. Your ticket for admission was a well filled barrel.
The barrels were given out some six months ago, and were returned last night, and contents counted and given to Missionary Society.

After the supper there were toasts
and music.

Dr. John Barbour was toastmaster.
The first on the program was Dr.
Maurice Waller, who responded to the toast "Early Memories of this Church."

"What this Church Stands For," R.
A. Cochran.

"What Every Member of this Church Stands For," O. J. Womble.

Recitation: "The Best I Can Do,"
Mrs. Frank H. Norton.

"Value of the Sunday School to the Church," Miss Mary Wilson.

"The Larger View," Rev. Carl Metzler.

Music by Mr. R. A. Cochran, Mr.
Kautz and Miss Elizabeth Barbour and others.

There were 75 persons at supper and the receipts were about $50.

THE NEW SUITS

$12.50, $15, $17.50, $22.50, $25

REGARDING PRICE—Never in our history have we been able to offer such excellent values, in style and material at such reasonable prices.

REGARDING WORKMANSHIP—We have made a careful study of every detail—hand-tailored reverses, buffed edges, hand made but holes, silk covered shields. Not one of the little niceties the women like has been overlooked.

REGARDING STYLE—Every garment no matter what the price was personally selected by us in the country's style center—
New York City, therefore every model is authoritative.

Individuality Marks Every Silk
Dress in Our Stock

We selected "one of a kind" so that a woman buying here may feel sure she is getting an individual model. At each price from $12.50 to $25 we are certain you will agree we have secured more than the usual amount of style. We would like to show you the line—it will interest you even if you don't want to buy.

THE GLAD HAND

Will Be Extended to Col. John Phister
Wallace Who Will Return to His Native Ballwick.

Col. John Phister Wallace "Maysville Man," par excellence and all-around good fellow and good Kentuckian who a few years ago hid himself and family to the "Windy City," has tired of the rush and rumble of that throbb-ing metropolis, and in the following characteristic letter to The Ledger
says:

"Chicago, Ill., March 25, 1914.

"PUBLIC LEDGER:

"Gents: Please announce in your paper that I am now packing my trunks to return to 'Old Maysville' for my future home. With regards to all my old friends.

"I am yours most respectfully,
"J. P. WALLACE."

Mr. Wallace will be received with the glad hand of welcome if not with a brass band. He will be as welcome as the violets in April and when he again gets anchored in the old home town for over and aye, Maysville people can rest assured that there is one citizen, at least, who will lay down his life in the common cause of patriotic citizenship.

Welcome to our city, J. P.

LIQUORS INTO

"DRY" TERRITORY
New Law, However, Provides It Must Be Labeled—Privilege Denied
Dealers Under the Old Law

According to those interested, the new liquor shipment law, passed by the last Kentucky General Assembly, makes it possible to transport liquor from "wet" to "dry" territory in the State, provided it is labeled "for medicinal, mechanical, chemical, scientific or sacramental purposes." Under the present law, that will hold until the now one becomes effective, railroads and other common carriers are prohibited from carrying liquor, no matter how labeled, from "wet" to "dry" territory within the State. In order to get around this it became necessary for distillers and others shipping liquor to establish branch houses in adjoining States, shipments there being possible as interstate commerce. It entailed considerable expense upon the manufacturer, however, as he not only had to pay for the maintenance of his branch house or houses, but he had to pay double freight on liquor intended for "dry" territory because of the cir-cuitous route traversed.

THE RESULTS TO DATE.

At a low estimate the tariff is costing our textile labor $4,000,000 a year and in reduced and passed dividends it is costing mill share owners another $4,000,000 at least, and the correct figures for labor and shareholders is probably nearer $15,000,000 yearly than $8,000,000. What is the gain for this serious loss? We have yet to find a case where either cottons or woollens, grade for grade, are a fraction of a cent a yard lower than before the new tariff went into effect, so far as the consumer is concerned. Yet the mills have made slashing reductions in price of their products, and labor and shareholders are paying the bills in reduced wages and dividends. The party in power responsible for the disturbed conditions in textile manufacturing have failed to show a particle of benefit as a result of the tariff, but the bad effects are plain in all mill centers. The manufacturers are meeting the situation to the best of their ability, but the fact remains that foreign fabrics are coming over in increasing quantities, and before the year closes we look for fully a third of America's normal consumption to be shipped in from foreign countries.

THE RIGHT MAN AT THE FRONT.

In criticism of vacillating policy in Mexico, Governor Colquitt makes the following comment in an address to the Texas Cattle ranchers whom he eulogized for their recent action: "I defy any authority on the face of the earth, Washington included, to prevent me from protecting our citizens along the border. It is only the inherent right of self-defense. Whenever the situation demands I will deal directly with Mexico in righting wrongs and not wait for the Federal Government, which seems to stand in fear. You can't expect the U. S. soldiers to cross the border for thieves and murderers, oh, no; but the Texas Rangers can do it. The Federal Government has not once assisted any citizen along the Rio Grande when they appealed for aid, except when it was too late. The defense of the people on the border belongs to Texas, and they shall have its full protection while I am Governor. I am trying to restrain myself but it is almost impossible in view of the outrages and indifference of the United States. These bandits cross our border, kidnap our people, steal our property, then go back into Mexico and are safe. They know they are safe. They know Washington will do nothing."

HIS REAPPEARANCE.

A celebrated vocalist was in a motor car accident one day. A paper, recording the accident, said: "We are happy to state that he was able to appear the following evening in three pieces."—Easton Free Press.

THE SHACKLEFORD BILL

Now In Senate Will Be Big Aid To Country Roads—Rural Carriers Much Interested.

Rural letter carriers everywhere are awaiting with much interest, action by the Senate on the Shackleford road bill which was passed by the House of Representatives by an overwhelming majority and is now with the Senate Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads.

Always concerned in the matter of good roads, the interests of rural carriers in this important subject has increased manifold since the parcel post weight has been extended to 50 pounds, with prospects of a further increase to 100 pounds.

The Shackleford bill provides Federal aid for post roads, dividing them into three classes. Class A covers paved roads, for which there is an allowance of $60 per mile; Class B includes gravel, sand or clay, and there is an allowance of $30 per mile. Class C covers dirt roads, with an allowance of $15 per mile. It cannot be disputed that even the small sum of $720 per year applied to the improvement of 24 miles on a rural route would greatly improve and enhance the condition and efficiency of rural delivery service.

It is hoped that the Shackleford bill will be passed by the Senate without material change and become a law.

The Mysterious Grave

By Mrs. C. C. Degman.

CHAPTER IV.

"Everybody for miles down the river were searching for the body. Jack Pearson hired two men and a skiff and lived on the river floating down on one side, rowing back on the other. He could count on his house after dark and leave at daylight and carried food in his pocket. Early on the fourth morning after the sad affair, as he was floating down, just above Mums' Run he spied an object in a bunch of willows. It was the body. Coroner Smith and Undertaker Rowe were sent for and soon it was in the undertakers rooms."

"Jack Pearson took control of the case, and gave orders. Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Westwood and I were asked to assist Mr. and Mrs. Rowe in preparing the body for burial. He instructed that the best material that could be procured was to be used, then hired men and went to the graveyard."

"Mrs. Westwood was a milliner and artist—she took control of the shroud. We made a foundation of white muslin and then with white silk, lace and rueling we arranged it in puffs and fold on folds 'til the whole, presented the picture of a beautiful marble white face peeping out from a mass of billowy white foam. One hand reached up through the 'foam' and held a white rose. It was indeed a beautiful sight."

"Everyday on this Hocking Valley Railroad two express trains pass. One goes East at 8:50. The other West at 2 p. m., but they never stop here. "On this particular day however the 2 o'clock train stopped and a fine looking young man and two elegantly dressed ladies got off. After a few minutes talk with the station master they came straight to the undertakers' rooms. Their unusual appearance attracted our attention while far down the street and Jack Pearson, who had just returned from the graveyard and was viewing our work with sad eyes walked out to meet them. He soon returned saying they were relatives of the young girl."

"We quietly withdrew as the strangers came in. After a bit Mr. Pearson came to us in another room, saying, 'The relatives approved of everything except the hour for burial was to be 6:30 instead of 1:30 as we had planned. 'He then asked us to drive to the burial with the relatives. We gladly assented and I hurried home. In a short time Mr. Pearson brought the strangers to our house. I assigned them my best rooms, including the parlor on the second floor. They requested tea, which I served in the parlor. Mr. Rowe had two hacks and an open carriage. Messrs. Smith, Westwood, Ellison and Miller rode in the open carriage in front of the hearse. Mr. Pearson rode with the strangers in the first hack, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Westwood, Mrs. Rowe, and I rode in the second. The men who had dug the grave remained to fill it. As the clouds began to rattle on the roof, one of the women gave a low moan and the young man put his arm around her. "Not a word was spoken except as Mr. Pearson now and then gave an order in a low tone."

"The sun had set when the work was done. Mrs. Westwood had brought a bunch of white roses which Mr. Pearson laid on the grave which Mr. Pearson laid on the grave."

For Sale West End Property.

We have for sale THREE beautiful residences in the West End on Second street. These homes are modern throughout. Each home is located on large lots, running back to Third street. The extension of the street car line, in that section, and the building of an up-to-date apartment house in this end of town, in our judgment is sure to stimulate values of real estate in that part of our city. These homes will be opened for inspection, to prospective buyers at any time. For particulars see us at once.

The Mysterious Grave

By Mrs. C. C. Degman.

CHAPTER III.

"At one time," said Mary, "she asked me which was the most important city between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. I gave the name Portsmouth and as I tried to make her talk I told her we often laid there quite a while." At Greenupburg she came to where Mary was ironing in the back cabin and asked her how far from there to Portsmouth and how many towns, and their names were yet to be passed before reaching there. Mary answered to the best of her ability, then added, "We are to land at Wheelersburg as that old gentleman and his family get off there." She then returned to her room and locked the door. She was seen by no one after that 'till the boat landed at Wheelersburg. When she came out at that place the brown silk had been exchanged for a white muslin. Several of the passengers afterwards spoke of the very attractive picture she made as she leaned over the railing watching the grade. She stood watching it 'till the boat was well out in the river. She again entered her room, but in a few moments returned and placed a chair against the railing in front of her stateroom door. She then turned to the back cabin. "Then," said Mary, "she came straight toward me smiling brightly and handed me a package, saying, you have been so kind to answer by questions please accept this." She looked happy and cheerful for the first time since coming on the boat. More beautiful too; the sunny curls were pushed back and tied with a white ribbon, with a bow on top of her head and long ends hanging down her back. One just like it only white, was around her waist and the ends at the back hung to the hem of her skirt. She looked radiant like an angel and I was going to tell her so, but she waved her hand at me in a bright happy way and ran back into her room. In a moment I, as well as the passengers near, heard her cry aloud, "Lord forgive me, there is nothing else to do."

"Instantly she darted from her room, jumped to the chair, from that to the railing, and leaped far out into the river. Her hands were held high. The ribbons flew back and those that saw her said she did indeed look like an angel in her flight. Her body struck the water, floated for an instant, then like a white shadow disappeared from sight, right at the mouth of the Little Seloto.

"Everybody screamed. Jack Pearson, who it seems was never far away, threw off his coat and plunged into the river. The boat was stopped. Skiffs were lowered. The boat drifted to the landing and landed.

"There was great excitement. The news spread and front street was soon lined with people. Men brought long boat hooks and reached far under the boat, and along the river bed. All to no avail however. Abandoning hope, Captain Thomas called Coroner Smith, Postmaster Westwood, Dr. Marshall, Mr. Price and a few others to come aboard.

"Mrs. Westwood and I were also sent and the chambermaid assisted Mr. Smith and the chambermaid assisted Mr. Smith in examining the stateroom. We found everything in order. The brown suit neatly folded was lying on the lower berth. The watch beside it. The hat was on the upper berth. The watch, a little velvet affair with silver mountings was open. In it were a few articles of clothing and a kerchief, tied at the four corners, which contained a gold watch and chain, a pair of bracelets, a brooch set with brilliant and ear rings to match. Three very beautiful rings—one with a diamond setting, another with a ruby surrounded with pearls, the other plain gold with 'Mario' engraved on the inside; a purse in which was about fifty dollars and a card with the address, 'Robert Hamilton, 508 Fifth Avenue, New York.'

"Captain Thomas ordered a dispatch sent to the New York office offering a reward of two hundred dollars for the recovery of the body, detailed Jack Pearson to remain and assist in the search, left the property of the drowned girl in our possession, then, after several hours delay the boat pushed on its way.

Jealousy can find as many excuses for getting into action as a lazy man can find for doing work.

A bride soon learns that it is of more importance to have supper ready on time than to be all dolled up when he gets home.

SERIOUS ERROR IN MAYSVILLE

Maysville Citizens Will Do Well to Profit by the Following.

Many fatal cases of kidney disease have reached an incurable stage because the patient did not understand the symptoms. Even today in Maysville there are many residents making the same serious error. They attribute their mysterious aches and pains to overwork, or worry, perhaps, when all the time their rheumatic pains, back-ache and bladder irregularities are most probably due to weak and ailing kidneys. If you are ill, if your kidneys are out of order, profit by this Maysville resident's experience.

Laug Stevens, Maysville, Ky., says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had backache, attended with pain, which extended into my kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in my family, so I gave them a trial. They made me entirely better."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

"Postum for Mine"

Many a man and woman with coffee troubles has found that Postum is a sure and pleasant way back to health.

A doctor writes:

"I have been using Postum for the last seven or eight years, and think it has had a good deal to do with my looking younger than 55 years of age."

"I recommend it to all my patients, and those who have been using it have only praises for its taste and its good effects on their nervous systems; like me they have given up tea and coffee altogether."

Postum is a pure food-drink made of wheat and a small proportion of molasses—roasted and skillfully blended. It is absolutely free from the coffee drugs, caffeine and tannin—common causes of heart, stomach, liver, kidney and nerve disturbance.

Some people marvel at the benefits from leaving off coffee and using Postum, but there is nothing marvelous about it—only common sense.

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be boiled. 15c and 25c pkgs.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder, requires no boiling.

A spoonful stirred in a cup of hot water makes a delicious beverage instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.
